This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

CONTINGENT REPORTS.

If a transfer of the appropriations made for any of the departments or branches of the government shall have been made, by order of the President of the United States, during the recess of Congress, it is made the duty of the head of the department in which such transfer shall have been made, to report to Congress, during the first week of the session, a special account of the moneys thus transferred, with their application.

See act 3d March, 1809, Statutes at Large, vol. 2, p. 535.
See act 3d March, 1817, Statutes at Large, vol. 3, p. 390.
See act 1st May, 1820, Statutes at Large, vol. 3, p. 568.
See act 30th June, 1834, Statutes at Large, vol. 4, p. 742.

If any State refuse to cede to the United States jurisdiction over lands purchased by the United States for public purposes, the head of the executive department making the application is directed immediately to report the same to Congress.

Statues at Large, vol. 5, p. 468.

The several heads of departments, in communicating estimates of appropriations and expenditures to Congress, or to committees of Congress, are required to specify the sources from which the estimates are derived, with the calculations upon which founded, and to discriminate between such as are conjectural and such as are framed upon specific information; also, to specify the laws, treaties, or other authority for the expenditure.

If the head of a department consolidate appropriations "for the contingencies of his department and its several bureaus," he shall, in his annual report to be made to Congress, state the portion of it expended for the department proper, and for each bureau.

Statutes at Large, vol. 5, p. 686.

If, in submitting to Congress the annual estimates from the several executive departments of the government, it shall be found that the usual items of such estimates vary materially in amount from the appropriations ordinarily asked for the object named, and especially from the appropriation granted for the same objects for the year next preceding, and whenever new items not theretofore usual shall be introduced into such estimates for any year, the estimates shall be accompanied by minute and full explanations, from the head of the appropriate department, of all such variations and new items, setting forth the reasons and grounds upon which the amounts are required, and the different items added; and whenever any such estimate, whether annual or special, shall ask an appropriation for any new specific expenditure, such as the construction of a fort, the erection of a custom-house or other public building, or the construction of any other public work requiring a plan before the building or work can be properly completed, every such estimate shall be accompanied by a full plan and detailed estimates of the cost of the whole work; and all subsequent estimates for every such work shall give the original estimated cost, the aggregate amount theretofore appropriated for the same, and the amount actually expended thereupon, as well as the amount asked for the current year for which such estimates shall be made; and whenever any such subsequent estimate shall ask for an appropriation for any such work beyond the original estimate of the cost, the full reasons for the excess, and the extent of the anticipated excess, shall be also stated.

31st CONGRESS, 2d Session. [HO. OF REPS.] MISCELLANEOUS, No. 1.

SLAVERY.

RESOLUTIONS

OF THE

LEGISLATURE OF CONNECTICUT,

IN

Reference to slavery.

DECEMBER 16, 1850.
Laid upon the table, and ordered to be printed.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY, May Session, 1850.

Whereas the people of Connecticut have heretofore, through their senators and representatives in General Assembly convened, solemnly and deliberately avowed their purpose to resist, in all constitutional and proper ways, the extension of slavery into the national Territories, and the admission of new slave States into the federal Union, and also to seek, in a peaceable and constitutional way, the abolishment of the slave trade and of slavery in the District of Columbia; and whereas the important questions now before the country touching these matters make it desirable that these convictions and determinations should be reaffirmed in the most solemn and public manner: therefore,

Resolved, That Congress has full constitutional power to prohibit slavery in the Territories of the United States by legislative enactment, and that it is the duty of Congress to pass, without unnecessary delay, such strict and positive laws as will effectually shut out slavery from every portion of these Territories.

Resolved, That Congress has like full constitutional power to remove slavery and the slave trade from the District of Columbia; and that this power should be at once exercised for the immediate prohibition of the slave trade therein, and for the abolition of slavery upon such terms of compensation to the slaveholders as may be just and reasonable.

Resolved, That, in the name of the people of Connecticut, we do hereby solemnly reaffirm our unalterable attachment to the federal Union, and our inflexible determination to adhere to our national constitution, and abide by all its compromises, to the letter and in the spirit of the same; while, with equally unalterable and inflexible purpose, deterred by no threat of disunion, we shall forever oppose any and every measure of compromise by which any portion of the territory now belonging to, or which may hereafter be acquired by, the United States, shall be given up to, or left unprotected against, the encroachments of slavery.

Resolved, That the integrity and permanence of American power on the Pacific ocean, the increase of our commerce and wealth, the extension of our institutions and the cause of human freedom on this continent, require the immediate admission of California into this Union, with her present constitution, and the boundaries therein defined, without any reference to any other question or measure whatever.

Resolved, That, inasmuch as the legislation necessary to give effect to the clause of the constitution of the United States relating to the delivering up of fugitive slaves is within the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress, we hold it to be the duty of that body to pass such laws only in regard thereto as will secure to all persons whose surrender may be claimed, as having escaped from labor or service in another State, the right of having the validity of such claim determined by a jury in the State where such claim shall be made.

Resolved, That the governor be requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to each of the senators and representatives of this State in the Congress of the United States, who are hereby requested to present the same to the house to which they respectively belong.

Senate, June 13, 1850.—Passed.

H. J. FULLER,
Clerk.

House of Representatives, June 19, 1850.—Passed.

E. S. CLEVELAND,
Assistant Clerk.

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE,
Hartford, July 26, 1850.

I hereby certify that the above is a true copy of the original resolutions, on file in this office.

Secretary of State.

WESTERN INTERESTS.

MEMORIAL

A MEETING OF CITIZENS OF THE WEST,

HELD AT EVANSVILLE INDIANA,

ON

The subject of western interests.

DECEMBER 18, 1850.

Referred to the Committee on Roads and Canals, and ordered to be printed.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States:

To those who have been observers of the rapid increase in population and power, within the last thirty years, of this section of our Union, it could not fail to have been a matter of observation as to our constant growth in all the elements which constitute a great nation, as well as a subject of speculation, what must be the result of such a progression in thirty years to come. In the first period, from the territory bordering on the waters of the Ohio and Mississippi, four great States have been added to the confederacy—Missouri, Arkansas, Iowa, and Wisconsin. Within the period of twenty years—from 1820 to 1840—the increase of population in the western States, including Michigan, was four million two hundred and fifty-seven thousand four hundred and forty-six; these States having in 1820 a population of one million eight hundred thousand seven hundred and eight: in 1840, five million fifty-eight thousand one hundred and fifty four. From 1830 to 1840, the same States show an increase of two million forty-seven thousand four hundred and seventy-two; their population being, in 1830, three million ten thousand six hundred and eighty-two, against five million fifty eight thousand one hundred and fifty four in 1840. Taking the census of 1830 and 1840 as a guide for that of 1850, the only one we can have until the census for the present year is taken, and admitting that the increase of population has been no greater the last ten years than it was the preceding ten, we have on the first of June in the western States seven million five thousand six hundred and twenty-six souls. Taking the same standard for our basis as it regards the New England, middle, and southern States, let us see what proportion the increase of population in the western States will bear to the other three great sections of the country. In New England, in 1830, the population was one million nine hundred and fifty four thousand seven hundred and seventeen; in 1850, two million two hundred and thirty-four thousand eight hundred and ninety-two—increase.

one million two hundred and eighty thousand one hundred and five; making the whole population of New England, in 1850, three million five hundred and fourteen thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven. In the middle States, embracing New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware, the population in 1830 was three million four hundred and thirty-five thousand eight hundred and twenty-eight; in 1840, four million six hundred and four thousand three hundred and forty-five; being an increase of one million six hundred and eighty-five thousand five hundred and twenty-seven. Admit the same increase for the last ten years, and the middle States would have, on the first of June last, a population of five million six hundred and seventy-two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two.

The southern States, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, District of Columbia, and Florida, including their slave population, had, in 1830, four million two hundred and thirty thousand six hundred and eighty-one inhabitants; in 1840, five million one hundred and sixty-six thousand and thirty-two. The same increase for the last ten years would give them on the first of June last, six million one hundred and one thousand four hundred and thirty-six inhabitants.

The population, then, in 1850, in the great divisions of the republic, will probably show as follows:

Western States,	population - - - -	7,005,626
Southern States,	" - - - - -	6,101,436
Middle States,	" - - - - -	5,672,872
New England States,	" - - - - -	3,514,923

showing an excess of population of the western States over the southern, excluding Texas, of nine hundred and four thousand two hundred; and less than New England and the Middle States, of two million one hundred and eighty-two thousand one hundred and seventy-three.

But owing to the great increase of the western States in comparison to others for the last ten years, judging from the increase of some of them for the ten preceding ones, we think it a safe calculation to add twenty per cent. on the increase of the western States for the last ten years over that of the preceding. If this is done, (and we believe the increase in some of them will be shown to be much larger than that,) the census of the western States will show nearly eight millions of souls, or something more than one-third of the whole population of the United States.

What proportion of the whole revenue of the government expended has been allotted to this portion of the confederacy, is a question not easy of solution.

That it bears no proportion whatever to the amount expended in the other three great divisions of the United States, as we have classed them above, is, we think, universally admitted by even those portions which have been most largely the recipients of government favor.

That we have been for years overlooked or neglected is apparent. That we have contributed our full proportion to the common fund, is not denied; and as it appears to us, it would be but a sheer act of justice to donate to us from the coffers of the government that which of right belongs to us; and the donation of which would not only inure to our benefit, but to that of our common country. That this is so, let the argument which we propose to submit, and the statistics herein, drawn from unquestionable sources, answer.

The power, magnitude, and resources of a country consist in four things—its population, capital, communication, and natual productions and elements. Cities merely collect, change, and distribute them. Population, the first element of power in a State, follows the natural resources of a country. What that is, to what it has been in the last thirty years, we have shown above from the tables which the government itself has supplied us with, to wit: the census of the several years thus far taken, and the very reasonable increase allowed for that which is being taken.

The next subject to be considered is our capital. That it has increased in the last thirty years in the West beyond any other section of the United States—that it is increasing and will continue to increase here beyond any other portion of the Union—we think undeniable. There are circumstances surrounding us, in our midst, connected with our very being and existence, which must accumulate it here in a proportion never before witnessed in any other country. These circumstances are: 1st. The great industry of our people, educated to industrious habits under our free institutions. 2dly. The possession of money's value in our inexhaustible agricultural and mineral resources. 3dly. The great advantages and facilities for manufacturing.

It would be impossible in a memorial like this to show the extent of our resources in these particulars. We have not the data at hand, and must therefore confine ourselves to generalities instead of entering into detail. The article of coal, for instance, so important for consumption by our own people, so necessary for all purposes of manufacturing in the entire absence of water-power, so indispensable for our naval and commercial marine, as now constituted, forms but one part of our mineral resources—a most important one, it is true, but only a part. What has the government ever done, indispensable as it is to it, in giving us a geological survey, showing either its quantity or its quality? And yet one of their officers has, within the last year, estimated the amount absolutely needed for the commercial and naval marine of the gulf, in a few years, at 20,000,000 of bushels. Take but a portion of our coal field, embracing the southern and western counties of Indiana, part of Iowa, Wisconsin, and Illinois, what is commonly called the "Great Illinois Coal Field." It equals in area the entire island of Great Britain, extending from southeast to northwest from Oil creek and Rome, on the Ohio river, to the mouth of Rock river, on the Mississippi, a distance of three hundred miles; and south to north from the waters of Green river and Treadwater, in Kentucky, to the waters of Little Vermillion, in Lasalle county, Illinois, a distance of three hundred and twenty-five miles; and from southwest to northeast from St. Louis and the waters of the west branch of Saline river, in Gallatin county, Illinois, to the forks of the Fox and Kankakee rivers, a distance of two hundred and fifty miles: a coal field occupying the greater part of Illinois, almost one-third of Indiana, a northwestern strip of Kentucky, and extending into Iowa, embracing every variety of bituminous coal. The thickness of the entire mass is supposed to be from 1,200 to 2,000 feet, and contains at least seven workable beds of coal. If we assume the average thickness of these coal beds collectively, at 21 feet, which is probably below the truth, and the area over which they extend at 200 miles square, or 40,000 square miles, then we have a mass of coal, on land of which the government is the largest proprietor, of 23,417,856,000,000 cubic feet, or 867,328,000,000 cubic yards or tons of coal, (a cubic yard of coal being nearly equal to a ton.) Let us imagine this coal worked, and estimating the profits in a ton of coal at fifty cents, this would give in round numbers a clear income of $400,000,000,000, to be derived from the working of this coal field. It may also be further remarked, that the strata of this coal field is more easily accessible along the southeastern and southwestern margins—along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers—than towards the northeast, by reason of the extensive diluvial deposites which cover the strata in that direction. But coal comprises by no means the entire resources of these valleys. The slaty clays contain certain extensive deposites of clay ironstone—an ore easily and profitably melted into pig-iron. Great Britain produces annually 600,000 tons of iron, from ore of the same quality procured in a similar geological position. Valuable and extensive deposites of hydrated brown oxide of iron—an ore of the same kind worked in Tennessee—are also of frequent occurrence near the margin of this coal basin. The proximity of these ores to coal greatly enhances their value, since this is the material used most frequently for their reduction. The sandstone at the base of this formation affords material for furnaces, grindstones, and buildings, while some of the slaty clay, when disintegrated, produces excellent fire clay. The materials for the production of copperas and alum are also widely distributed amongst the slate clay, under and overlaying the strata of coal. The importance of the limestone (so abundant in the whole region) as a flux for the iron ore, for construction and burning into lime, are too well known to need comment.

Such are the views and opinions of this most interesting region, given us by Dr. David Dale Owen, now United States geologist, and made at the expense of the State of Indiana, in a cursory examination of the section referred to. What we ask is a more thorough and elaborate geological survey, made by order of the government, and embracing a much more extended sphere of the great West. It is due to the States themselves—it is due to the government itself. In a short time it is to be hoped she will be creating armories in the west,, and surely it is all-important to her interest to know whether the material for such establishments are readily found in the region where they are to be located.

The question of a full supply of those two great elements of national wealth and national power—coal and iron—is well worth investigation, and can only be determined by a full and minute examination, made under the authority of an act of Congress. Surely if the government have thought it their duty to make a geological survey of the lead and copper regions of the lakes, much higher considerations connected with their obligation to the West, and their own interest, require a minute and accurate survey of the coal and iron region in the valley of the Mississippi.

The next subject to which we would call your attention is the natural communication of any one point on the Ohio or Mississippi rivers—Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville, Memphis, St. Louis, Quincy or Galena—with any other point on the same waters, or their tributaries. These connexions are immense, and these communications between western and southwestern cities in the valley of the Mississippi are rapidly increasing. The effects of such communications are daily multiplying in all directions. In order to form a better opinion of their increase, we take from the report on commerce and navigation, accompanying the President's message, and one of the documents published at the last session of Congress, the specific statement of the number of steamboats built in the United States since 1824, (twenty-five years,) divided into periods of five years each.

Before so doing, however, we may be permitted to remark that while Congress very readily seems willing to appropriate any sum to the exhibit of the quantity and value of our external commerce, yet these reports are entirely silent on the subject of our internal commerce—a commerce vastly greater than any we have with foreign nations—and that you may look in vain through all the documents connected with our statistics as a nation, to find a single column devoted either to the commerce or manufactures of the West, and it is only here and there that a single table can be found which inferentially even can give you the least light upon the subject referred to.

From the documents above named, it would appear that the whole number of steamers built in the United States for the last twenty-five years was two thousand four hundred and ninety-two, as follows:

From 1824 to 1829	194
From 1829 to 1834	204
From 1834 to 1839	504
From 1839 to 1844	521
From 1844 to 1849	969
Total	2,492

Two thousand five hundred steamboats built within twenty five years! If we give two hundred tons as the average of these boats—and it is probably below the mark—we find that the steamboat tonnage in that period amounted to five hundred thousand tons.

Let us now see what part the West had in this business. From the reports on commerce, for the years 1846, '48, '49, we find, in three years, the steamboats built in the West compare with the total number as follows:

	In the West.	Total in the U. S.
In 1846	130	175
In 1848	152	225
In 1850	155	208
Aggregate	437	608

Thus we see that of the whole number of steamboats built the last three years in the United States, two-thirds were built on the western waters; and of this number, one-sixth were built in Ohio, and one-seventh at Cincinnati. The largest number of steamboats built at any one place were built in Pittsburg. In 1836 there were 143 steamboats, carrying 24,000 tons, navigating the western waters. In the last five years there have been built 1,000 steamboats; of these, seven hundred were built on the western rivers. The life of a steamboat does not average more than five years; but there are a large number which have been repaired, and are much older than five years. It is safe to say, then, that there are more than 800 steamboats now running on the western waters, and, averaging their tonnage at two hundred tons each, carrying one hundred and sixty thousand tons of freight.

"Here we see one element of the growth of western commerce—a commerce whose magnitude must, at an early day, surpass anything the world has yet seen of commercial development."

It is impossible to approximate to anything like the truth, in reference to our commercial statistics. We can only arrive at it by details furnished in solitary cases, by taking our own products and value, as furnished by the auditors' and assessors' books in the west, and to all of which we have not at present access. Take the article of pork, for instance; and the same may be said of beef. It is out of our power to give the aggregate quantity shipped on the western waters in any one year: the amount is enormous, and would scarcely be credited if we had the figures. Some approximation, however, may be made by taking the State of Ohio as an example of the number of hogs assessed for taxes for the last three years: in 1848, the number was 1,486,191; 1849, 1,730,466; 1850, 1,728,794. Of this quantity it is fair to suppose that two thirds are exported. We have spoken of the connexions between the different points in the valley of the Mississippi; they are immense: not less than twenty thousand miles of their coast is accessible to this point by steamboat navigation; and the effect of these communications on the whole West and Southwest is daily manifesting itself. What is the result? Cities are doubling and trebling their population, farms are opening in all directions, our forests are bowing before the axe of the settler. The green sod of our prairies is everywhere broken up by the plough of the husbandman. Our corn and wheat fields teem with the rich abundance of their products. We are not as we were a few short years since—laboring for our own sustenance—but freighting our products to every clime where American and foreign ships can carry it; and in return receiving the products of other lands for our wants, and upon which duties are paid by us to the government, thus swelling the coffers to an amount, we venture to say, received from no other part of the Union; for there is scarcely an article subject to duty but what enters into the consumption of the western people, and the importation of these dutiable articles is swelling to an amount that could hardly be credited, did not the statistics of the West show that this is true. Take, for instance, the imports into Cincinnati twenty-five years since, and compare them with what they are now. We set down the value instead of the quantity:

	1826.	1848.
Coffee - - -	$198,000	$1,080,000
Sugar - - -	80,000	1,629,000
Brandies and wines -	200,000	500,000

And yet this is but a single point in the valley. We presume that Pittsburg, Louisville, and St. Louis, would show an equal if not greater increase; and the consequence is, instead of paying duties, as we formerly did, at ports on the Atlantic, New York, or New Orleans, our own commercial towns are ports of entry and delivery—the duties are paid here; and the result is now a direct importation of foreign merchandise to all the principal towns on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. These importations keep pace with our increase of population, and but a few years will elapse before the customs here will compare favorably with many cities on the seaboard.

In former years the foreign goods imported had their duties paid at the cities on the seaboard where they were landed; they were then carried across the mountains, or up the Mississippi and Ohio, to their several destinations in the west. But the whole aspect of commerce in the west is now in a great degree changed by the change of locomotion; and it has been very justly and truly stated, "the merchants of Memphis, St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Pittsburg will be as much the merchants of America as the merchants of New York, Philadelphia, or Baltimore." The growth of our cities and the immense distribution of foreign goods here now prove this fact conclusively. While every year the importation of foreign goods to the west directly is increasing, the table above shows what it has been to a single city, and this is but one among the great number that are to spring up in our valley. The fact is, (and the statistical table will prove it for the last ten years,) that the commerce of the West has grown faster than its population, great as that is.

Among the avenues which lead this population and this trade to the west and southwest, the principal ones are the Ohio and Mississippi rivers—extending with their tributaries (many of which are as navigable most seasons of the year as the streams into which they empty) a distance of twenty thousand miles, running through a region unsurpassed in the world for its agricultural products and mineral resources; running from north to south through eighteen degrees of latitude, and having on their margin and along their borders thirteen States of the confederacy, embracing a population five times as large as the good "old thirteen" at the first organization of our government.

What has Congress done for their improvement? Nothing—absolutely nothing. And these great arteries, these great "inland seas," which waft on their surface annually millions of human beings, and convey on their waters an inland commerce far exceeding that carried across the ocean by the whole domestic and foreign marine, are now, so far as navigation is concerned—so far as improvement is concerned—but little, if any, better than when the first "broad horn" floated down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers fifty years ago, and deposited her cargo of flour and whiskey, after a two months' voyage, in the Spanish port of New Orleans.

The action of Congress towards the West has been heretofore of the most anomalous character, occasionally holding out the promise of some great benefit, of some act to be done, which should promote in some degree western interest. They have so contrived it that only some initiatory step should be taken, and then the matter has slumbered—or so worded the act conferring the benefit, that it has in effect been rendered entirely nugatory. More than one example of this kind of national legislation might be given. Some seven years since, an appropriation was made by Congress to locate an armory on the western waters. What has been done since in the premises? Immediately after the appropriation was made, during President Tyler's administration, a corps of engineers was detailed, and the Surgeon General of the United States army attached to it, with a view, probably, of determining the exact quantity of malaria there was at any one given point on the Ohio river. They made the reconnoissance —were some four months engaged in it—presented their account and report. The first was paid, and the last now lies in the pigeon-holes of the War Department, where it probably will lay until some Cerberus of the treasury calls for the report and account, with a view of showing the immense extravagance of the government in their expenditures for western improvements. For the armory itself not the first dollar has been expended, nor the first stone laid. Again, Congress, at its last session—not, we believe, very willingly—sanctioned by their act the truly national policy of procuring the hemp necessary for the navy from the American producer. Thus far, something was gained; but here the act stops.

It is well known that one of the great staples of the West is hemp. The two States of Kentucky and Missouri probably raise more hemp than all the other States of the Union. To render the policy valuable to the producer, and effective to the government, the hemp should not only be purchased, but inspected and manufactured, near the place of production. "By so doing (and there is no good reason why it should not be done) the hazard and cost of transportation would be saved to the grower, while the government itself would save the cost of transportation between the manufactured article and the bulky raw material."

Instead of shipping the raw material around to the navy-yards of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Norfolk, why not erect naval ropewalks at points convenient to the hemp region—say at Louisville or St. Louis—where the article could at all times be easily produced, and the manufactured article could be safely shipped? No; the raw material, one of the most bulky in commerce, is shipped down the Mississippi, carried along our whole extensive seaboard, to the port of Boston; and the manufactured cordage re-shipped, and carried up the Mississippi, to supply the navy-yard at Memphis. We have merely attempted to show the narrow policy of Congress in its legislation as regards the West, by the instances enumerated. We might, if necessary, mention others not less injurious in their consequences to our growth and prosperity. Those we have named, we think, are sufficient to show that western interests are very little cared for in our national legislature.

The next grievance to which we would call the attention of Congress is the entire want of postal arrangements in the west, fitted to furnish our citizens with those mail facilities demanded by our business and population. It would appear from the action heretofore had on the subject, either that Congress or the Postmaster General were entirely ignorant that more than one-third of the population of the United States, residing in the valley of the Mississippi, and paying more than one-third of the whole revenue, had any need whatever of letters or papers; that they ever wrote the first or read the last; or that, in any way, they were connected with other sections of the Union, from which they would be glad occasionally to hear. That our merchants and men of business, interested in an internal commerce of more than two hundred millions of dollars, extending along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers more than two thousand miles, and their tributaries much farther, should be left to the casual chance of a way passenger on a steamboat, or the more uncertain one of a flatboat, to forward their business letters in advance of the mail, to their correspondents along those great streams, would hardly be credited. Yet, for the want of a more direct and certain conveyance, this is frequently the case; and we venture to say, that for want of more direct mail facilities, one-third, at least, of the correspondence of our business men, and others, is carried out of the mails on the western waters; that postage enough is lost to the government from forwarding letters otherwise than by mail than would pay all the expenses of a daily river mail, touching at every town from Pittsburg to New Orleans. Yet notwithstanding our constant application to Congress, our reiterated complaints, for years, to the Post Office Department, who would believe that of the large sum of $2,540,000 asked for and appropriated by Congress for the transportation of the mails within the United States, less than $50,000 is applied for the transmission of the mails by the river from Pittsburg to New Orleans; that there is no river mail from Pittsburg to Cincinnati, although there is a daily line of steam-packets running all the year; but a tri-weekly mail is carried between Louisville and St. Louis, and a similar one between Louisville and New Orleans; that up the Kentucky and Green rivers, with tri-weekly packets running all the year to Frankfort and Bowling Green, no mail is carried—none on the Tennessee or the Cumberland; making at least 1,800 miles of inland navigation in the most populous portions of the west, unsupplied with a river mail, and which might be supplied at comparatively a small expense, three times a week, by steamboats running on these waters: that the Post Office Department absolutely refuses to allow more than the pitiful sum of sixty-five dollars a trip, unconditionally, for carrying the large mail from Louisville to New Orleans, when, for the moderate sum of one hundred dollars a trip, unconditionally, the best contractors in the West, on the best and fastest boats that navigate the western waters, offer to carry it daily and regularly, supplying with mail matter all the year the whole of southern Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas, eight States of the confederacy, and fully four millions of inhabitants.

Less than fifty thousand dollars applied to this great object! while Congress lavish upwards of eleven hundred thousand dollars to fit out expensive steamers, enriching beyond all calculation a few speculators, to carry a mail to two ports on the coast, Charleston and New Orleans, thence to Chagres, and from Panama to San Francisco and Oregon; the adventurers to the first, and the Indians of the latter, receiving mail facilities to an amount exceeding one million of dollars, while the whole population and business of the valley of the Mississippi, by steam communication, gets less than fifty thousand.

But this is not all. For carrying the mail on steamers to Southampton and Bremen, an additional sum of $783,000 is annually paid by the government; and the argument used for this immense outlay, as in the case of those carrying the mail to the Pacific, is, that they are to be turned over to the United States "in case of war"—an event not very likely, as we trust, soon to take place, at least during the life of the steamers, unless, as some predict, it should happen among ourselves, in which case the contest for their possession would be between other parties; the West taking no part in the matter except as pacificators. Again, it was only at the last session of Congress that the modest sum of $480,000 was asked for a mail line to Africa, with the avowed purpose of carrying all the free negroes out of the country, at $50 per head. The chairman of the committee who introduced the bill (the naval committee) was a distinguished gentleman from the West—from the valley itself. We feel no disposition to criticise these appropriations for foreign mail service—they may be all right; but may we not ask the honorable chairman, and especially the members of Congress from the West, whether one-tenth or one-twelfth of these sums granted and asked for, for an object exclusively domestic and national, for increase of mail facilities on the western waters, when they are so much needed, would be at all extravagant? Whether, in fine, such an appropriation would not be just and meritorious under all the circumstances? So far from such an appropriation being an additional tax upon the Post Office Department, we firmly believe it would be the very best economy, insomuch as we are satisfied, with additional facilities thus given for the transportation of the mails on the western waters, that the revenue of the department would be greatly increased, and that the increased transmission of letters by mail along these waters would double the amount expended in a single year. So that, viewing the question as one of policy and not of right, the government would be the gainer in a pecuniary point of view by granting us the facilities asked for.

Can our friends in Congress, then, from the north and the south, be so blind as not to see that this state of things cannot be endured much longer—that, unless something is done, the patience of our people will be exhausted, that the promises so long held out are not fulfilled—that while we compose fully one-third of the whole population of the Union, and pay fully one-third of its taxes—bear one-third of its burdens—that there should be some reciprocity, some spirit of equality, in the distribution of the public money? Have we not suffered enough? Have we not borne it patiently? Year after year we have been knocking at the door of Congress, asking no favors, but simply demanding our right. How have we been met? Year after year by a refusal—an absolute denial; and when our portion of the public patrimony has been doled out to us, has it not been with a sparing hand, like the gift of a miserly parent to an importunate child? And how has the West acted towards her sister States? Not a fortification that bristles along our coast—not a frigate that navigates the ocean—not a light-house that points the path of safety to our mariners on the seaboard—not a survey of our harbors has been made, or a custom-house built, but what the money which provided for the one, and built the other, has been furnished by means of western votes. But how is it in regard to western appropriations?—appropriations to remove the snags, and sand-bars, and obstructions of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers; obstructions which, in a single season, produce more loss than all the money ever expended by the government on these rivers would pay for; obstructions which this very year have caused a loss to the West greater than the whole amount of money expended by the government in keeping up its army or its navy. Why, not a dollar can be got, and the whole commerce of the West—from Pittsburg and St. Louis to the Gulf—runs through a gauntlet of dangers and difficulties which no human prudence can shun; no human skill or sagacity escape. All of which might be avoided in a single year if Congress would but expend a tithe of the money annually squandered elsewhere, without any practical purpose or useful result.

The representative from the north who asks Congress for an appropriation to build a light-ship to be stationed off Cape Cod, asked it upon the ground "that it has a tendency to facilitate, to promote and protect, the interests of commerce." It seems to us that it would be proper to apply the same rule whenever the reason of it exists; yet these legislative Solomons seem to think otherwise, and while they would expend a half million of dollars in building light-houses in "Buzzard's bay," or placing buoys in Martha's Vineyard sound, would deem it unwise, inexpedient, aye, unconstitutional, to remove the snags and sawyers of the Mississippi: statesmen of such acute and discriminating minds as to deem it perfectly constitutional and right, as has been justly said, "to light up the evening path of commerce in the east, but altogether wrong to prevent the commerce of the West from being destroyed in open daylight." We ask, then, for us, only the application of a rule, deemed right and proper elsewhere, to give to the commerce of the West those aids and advantages which are furnished by the government to that of the East. Nay, we do not ask even this. Give us but a tithe of what has been expended there within the last ten years, and we shall be content. The constitutionality of such an appropriation by Congress to the Ohio and Mississippi rivers for their improvement it is a little too late, in this middle of the nineteenth century, to question. The constitutionality of such a grant has been approved of by every President for the last twenty years—sanctioned again and again by Congress, and the strictest State-rights man, south of Mason and Dixon's line, has now not a doubt upon the subject. What excuse, then, can Congress furnish the country for a further delay in making an appropriation for an object so just, so expedient, so constitutional—an object all important to the West—all important to the country? We make no boast—we intimate no threat, if again we are denied this claim of right. Again and again we have presented it to the consideration of Congress—again and again it has been refused: we have neither murmured nor threatened at what we have conceived such gross and palpable injustice. While millions have been expended along the Atlantic coast, for purposes precisely similar to those for which we ask but comparatively a small sum, we have been silent—far from denouncing, we have not complained. Other sections of the Union, more sensitive, with burdens less onerous—for causes more trifling—for neglect of their interests, less apparent, would have threatened "secession." Not so with the West; at all times, and under all circumstances, our people have been conservative—so far from being either "secessionists" or "disunionists," they have but "one country, one constitution, one destiny." Our attachment to the North and to the South is equal—we view them as brethren—we are literally "bone of their bone, flesh of their flesh,"—they are our common ancestors, and whatever differences of opinion may have sprung up among them, in the heated controversies of the day, they may rest assured, from us at least they are not separated, either in affection or interest, nor ever can be. We are too firmly united to them by other ties than those which bind us as States—by the ties of consanguinity of blood—of kindness and mutual benefit, and advantages to both—ever to withdraw ourselves from them by any act of ours. To our elder brethren of the confederacy, both north and south, who have been portioned out already to their full share of the patrimonial estate, we but ask, as your younger sisters, to be placed on an equality. We have arrived at that age when we think we are entitled to something like a fair division of the common fund—a fair share of its benefits and advantages—ready now, as we ever have been, to return it to the common treasury of the nation whenever the republic requires its repayment; for when, we would ask, has this great valley in which we live been niggardly of its treasure or its blood whenever the common interests of the country required their expenditure?

In conclusion let us say—and we say it in the true sprit of fraternal feeling to our brethren of the north and the south—"Our Union must not be sundered;" the golden cords which have hitherto bound us together must not be broken—our common interests require that there should be no secession, no disunion; for we hold the terms synonymous—not a star, not a stripe of our glorious flag must be dimmed, far less erased from that noble emblem of our common fame—our common glory—our common country. We speak what we feel; we speak what we know, from association; is the feeling of our whole people. As the representatives of the western States here in convention assembled, we speak their united voice—the voice of all sections, of all creeds, of all parties—when we say that at all hazards, regardless of all consequences, "our Union must and shall be preserved."

In view, then, of the facts above set forth, we would respectfully memorialize Congress, at its ensuing session, to make us appropriations for the following objects:

1st. To carry on and perfect a thorough and minute examination of the mineral region of the west, with a view to its capability for supplying the articles of coal and iron, so useful and necessary for manufacturing purposes, for the commercial marine of the country, and for the naval marine of the government; and that for that purpose an appropriation be made for a scientific and geological survey to be made by some United States geologist, to be hereafter elected.

2d. To carry out and perfect a thorough postal arrangement throughout the western States, and especially along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and their tributaries, so that a daily mail may be furnished to the towns along the first named streams from Pittsburg to New Orleans.

3d. To make a liberal appropriation for clearing out the snags and sawyers of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers—removing obstructions caused by shoals and sand-bars and deepening the channels of said streams, so that navigation may at all seasons be open, and the dangers and losses now submitted to avoided.

4th. The inspection and manufacture of the hemp purchased of the producers in the west, under the act of the last session of Congress, in the several States in which the same is purchased, instead of shipping the same east for inspection and manufacture, thereby creating a great saving to the government, and further advancing the interest of the producer.

5th. The establishment of one or more armories on the western waters.

6th. That the senators and representatives from the western States in Congress assembled be requested to use their influence in procuring the passage of such acts as will most effectually carry out the intentions of this convention, and secure the objects of their meeting, as set forth in the above memorial.

31st CONGRESS, 2d Session. [HO. OF REPS.] MISCELLANEOUS No. 4.

MISSISSIPPI—SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES.

THE LEGISLATURE OF MISSISSIPPI,

IN RELATION TO

The senators and representatives in Congress from that State.

DECEMBER 23, 1850.

Laid upon the table, and ordered to be printed.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS of the legislature of the State of Mississippi, in relation to our senators and representatives in Congress.

Whereas, in a special message of the governor of this State bearing date the 11th of February, 1850, the following communication from the senators and representatives of Mississippi in the Congress of the United States was presented to the legislature then in session, to wit:

"WASHINGTON, January 21, 1850.

"SIR: We, the senators and representatives in Congress from Mississippi, feel it incumbent upon us to advise you, and through you our common constituents, that we have a well-defined opinion that California will be admitted as a State of this Union during the present session of Congress. The President earnestly recommended it, and we cannot be mistaken in supposing that a majority of both houses of Congress will be found to vote for it. Our individual positions have undergone no change. We regard the proposition to admit California as a State, under all the circumstances of her application, as an attempt to adopt the "Wilmot proviso" in another form. But, separated as we are from our constituents, and having no convenient means of consulting them as to their views on the new phase of this perplexing question, we desire, through you, to submit the single fact to the people and the legislature, that California will most likely obtain admission into the Union with her constitutional prohibition of slavery; and we beg leave to add, that we shall be greatly pleased to have such expression of opinion, by the legislature, the governor, and, if practicable, by the people, as shall clearly indicate the course which Mississippi will deem it her duty to pursue in this new emergency.

"Very respectfully, your obedient servants,

"JEFF. DAVIS,
"H. S. FOOTE,
"J. THOMPSON,
"W. S. FEATHERSTON,
"WM. McWILLIE,
"A. G. BROWN.

"His Excellency JOHN A. QUITMAN,
Governor, &c., &c.

"EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Jackson, February 11, 1850.

"I do hereby certify that the within and foregoing letter is a true copy of the original, as filed in this office, the 11th day of February, 1850.

"JAMES McDONALD,
Private Secretary, &c."

And whereas the legislature, after mature consideration of the subject-matter of said communication, adopted, in accordance with the suggestions therein contained, among others, the following resolutions, as instructions to the senators and as expressive of their opinions to the representatives in Congress from this State, to wit:

"Resolved, That the policy heretofore pursued by the government of the United States in regard to said territory, (of California,) in refusing to provide territorial government therefor, has been and is eminently calculated to promote, and is about to effect, indirectly, the cherished object of the abolitionists, which cannot be effected by direct legislation without a plain and palpable violation of the constitution of the United States.

"Resolved, That the admission of California into the Union as a sovereign State with its present constitution, the result of the aforesaid false and unjust policy on the part of the government of the United States, would be an act of fraud and oppression on the rights of the people of the slaveholding States; and it is the sense of this legislature that our senators and representatives should, to the extent of their ability, resist it by all honorable and constitutional means."

And whereas the Hon. Jefferson Davis, one of the senators, and the Honorables A. G. Brown, Wm. McWillie, W. S. Featherston, and Jacob Thompson, members in Congress from this State, in accordance with said resolutions, and with the interest and will of the people of Mississippi, did, by their action in Congress, resist, by all honorable and constitutional means, the admission of California, with her existing constitution, into the Union as a sovereign State; and whereas the Hon. Henry S. Foote, one of the senators in Congress from this State, in violation of the spirit and intent of said resolutions, and in opposition to the interest and will of the people of Mississippi, did not resist by all honorable and constitutional means the admission of California into the Union as a sovereign State, with her existing constitution, but, by giving his support to the misealled compromise reported by the Committee of Thirteen in the United States Senate, violated the instructions of the legislature, as contained in said resolutions, based upon his own request, and disregarded the interest and will of the people of Mississippi: Therefore,

Resolved by the legislature of the State of Mississippi, That the course of the Hon. Jefferson Davis, as senator, the Honorables A. G. Brown, Wm. McWillie, W. S. Featherston, and Jacob Thompson, as representatives in Congress from this State, on the question of the admission of California, is approved, as representing the interest and will of the people of Mississippi; that the course of the Hon. Henry S. Foote on this question is not approved, being, in the judgment of the legislature, opposed to the interest and will of the people of Mississippi.

Be it resolved further, That the course of the Hon. Jefferson Davis, as senator, and Honorables A. G. Brown, Wm. McWillie, W. S. Featherston, and Jacob Thompson, as representatives in Congress from this State, in their firm and consistent support and able advocacy of the rights and honor of Mississippi and the South, in all the questions before Congress at its late sessions involved in the slave controversy, is approved; that the course of the Hon. Henry S. Foote on all these questions is not approved, and this legislature does not consider the interests of the State of Mississippi committed to his charge safe in his keeping.

JOHN J. McRAE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
JNO. J. GUION,
President of the Senate.

Approved November 30, 1850.

J. A. QUITMAN.

Resolved by the legislature of the State of Mississippi, That his Excellency Governor Quitman be, and is hereby, requested to furnish each of our senators and representatives in the Congress of the United States with a copy of the "preamble and resolutions" passed at this session of the legislature approving the course of the Hon. Jefferson Davis, the Honorables A. G. Brown, Wm. McWillie, W. S. Featherston, and Jacob Thompson, and disapproving the course of the Hon. Henry S. Foote, as senators and representatives in Congress from this State, with a request that said preamble and resolutions be presented to their respective branches of the national legislature.

Passed the Senate November 27, 1850.

J. A. ORR, Secretary.

Passed the House of Representatives November 27, 1850.

E. P. RUSSELL, Clerk.

THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI—Office of Secretary of State:

I, Jo. Bell, Secretary of State of the State of Mississippi aforesaid, certify the foregoing to be true copies of "preamble and resolutions of the State of Mississippi in relation to our senators and representatives in Congress," and also of a resolution in relation thereto, as the same are of file in my office.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

LETTER

FROM

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE,

TRANSMITTING

A copy of their proceedings in regard to the contemplated industrial exhibition at London.

JANUARY 23, 1851.
Referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

To the Hon. Howell Cobb, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States:

The undersigned, acting as the executive committee for the industrial exhibition to be held in London in June, 1851, respectfully refer to you the proceedings they have had in pursuance of the duties imposed upon them by the government of the United States, and ask you to lay them before the body over which you preside, for such action thereon as may be required to carry out this national object as may seem to them best.

We are, very respectfully, your obedient servants,

PETER FORCE,
JOSEPH HENRY,
CHARLES WILKES,
WALTER R. JOHNSON,
JOS. C. G. KENNEDY.

CENTRAL AUTHORITY OF THE UNITED STATES ON INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION,

In Executive Committee.

The following statement is respectfully submitted for the consideration of the President of the United States.

On the 9th of March, 1850, the Minister Plenipotentiary of her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain to the United States addressed a letter to the Secretary of State, enclosing a copy of a commission which her Majesty had been pleased to issue, for the purpose of promoting an exhibition in England for the works of all nations, and expressing the conviction on the part of her Majesty's government that the United States government would be well disposed to promote the success of the undertaking.

On the 17th of May, the Secretary of State transmitted to the National Institute copies of a correspondence between the British minister and the State Department relative to the proposed industrial exhibition. From these papers it appeared that, without the approval by a recognised central authority in the United States, nothing from this country would be received at the exhibition.

On the 27th of May, a letter from the National Institute to the Secretary of State informed him of the appointment of a central committee "to hold correspondence with the British commissioners, and to secure the reception of American productions at the proposed industrial exhibition in London."

On the 8th of June, the Secretary of State addressed a letter to the National Institute, in approval of their proceedings, and enclosing a copy of a letter, dated June 1, from the State Department to the British minister in this city, informing him of the organization of a committee to constitute the central authority required by the regulations of the royal commission on the proposed industrial exhibition, &c.

The committee constituting the central authority, immediately on its organization, addressed a letter to the governors of the several States, requesting each, in his respective State, to appoint a committee to correspond with the central committee, and to select, from such articles as might be submitted by the citizens of the State, those most suitable for the exhibition, for the final approval of the central committee. In compliance with this request, State committees have been appointed by the governors of Massachusetts, Mississippi, New York, Vermont, Ohio, Missouri, Indiana, Maryland, Illinois, Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, South Carolina, Alabama, Delaware, North Carolina, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Tennessee, Florida, Louisiana, Kentucky, Michigan, and Georgia.

Through these State committees, the citizens of the United States have responded promptly to the invitation to place specimens of their natural productions, ingenuity, and skill by the side of those of the nations of the Old World. From the reports made from the States to the central committee, it is believed that all the space allotted to American contributors in the exhibition rooms will be required for the reception of articles from this country.

For the transmission of these articles coastwise and across the Atlantic, the Secretaries of the Treasury and the Navy have afforded every facility within their control, and not inconsistent with their duty. The public ship ordered by the Navy Department for the conveyance of articles for the exhibition from the United States will take them to England free of expense. But, when landed in England, no person is there to take charge of them, and the duty of the officers and crew of the ship that conveys them there will be at an end.

Some of the exhibitors may be present themselves, or may have agents there; but many, especially from the interior of our country, will, when landed, be without owner or claimant. For the care of all these no provision has been made; nor has any agent been appointed to represent properly the interests of American citizens at the exhibition, and during its continuance.

Some authorized persons should be on the spot to superintend the arrangement and display of the articles sent. Besides, prizes are to be awarded, and juries appointed from the various nations to decide upon the comparative merits of the articles exhibited. In these decisions the honor and the pride of our country are interested. The fairness of what may be done in all this is not questioned. But, as the interests of the citizens of other nations will be represented there by commissioners appointed for the purpose, the non-representation of the American interests cannot be otherwise than injurious.

The members of the committee have cheerfully met all the expenses of time and of money necessarily incurred in carrying into effect the wishes of the government, as expressed in the letter of the Secretary of State of the 17th of May last; but it cannot be expected of them that they should also pay the expenses of agents or commissioners to represent the interests of the country at the exhibition.

The committee is not a self-created body, nor did it emanate from any association of private citizens. It was formed in compliance with a request of the Secretary of State of the United States, made on the suggestion of the British minister, speaking in the name of his government. The committee have no plan nor objects of their own to accomplish. They were appointed to carry into effect, as far as possible, the wishes of the two governments only. Beyond this they have no desire to go. In their progress they have met with what appears to them a serious obstacle to a satisfactory completion of their labors. They cannot secure for the productions of the United States a position as favorable as that which has been secured for the productions of other nations, and which can only be secured by the appointment of suitable persons to attend the exhibition.

Believing such an appointment to be indispensably necessary for the interests and honor of the country, the undersigned submit for the consideration of the President the necessity of providing means to meet the expense attending it.

WASHINGTON, 31*st December*, 1850.

WASHINGTON, January 9, 1851.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the letter of the executive committee of the 31st ult., stating what has been done by the committee, of which you are chairman, to make the necessary arrangements and provide the necessary means to enable the citizens of this country to exhibit their articles at the World's Fair in London, and also what the executive government has promised to do in aid of that object, and informing me that there will still be a deficiency of means. The committee have most generously devoted their time and money to this laudable enterprise without the hope of remuneration, and evidently with no other motive than to advance the interest and sustain the honor of our country. The executive authority has gone to the full extent of its power in aid of the committee; and I regret extremely to say that it can do no more than it has promised.

I cannot assume to advise in this dilemma, but must leave it to the committee to adopt such course to supply the deficiency as it may judge best.

I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

MILLARD FILLMORE.

HOME INDUSTRY.

RESOLUTIONS

OF

THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,

IN REFERENCE TO

The encouragement of home industry.

MARCH 3, 1851.

Laid upon the table, and ordered to be printed.

RESOLUTIONS in relation to the encouragement of home industry, and requesting our members in both branches of Congress to vote against any increase of tariff duties.

Whereas the southern States of this Union have, since the formation of the federal government, assisted in fostering and nourishing the manufacturing and mining interests of the non-slaveholding States, by voting to impose high taxes upon importations from foreign countries which might come in competition with the productions of the labor and industry of the aforesaid non-slaveholding States; and whereas these acts of generosity and self-sacrifice have been unappreciated at the north, and the people of that section show a disposition to make unceasing attacks upon our institutions and property: therefore,

1. Resolved, That the State of North Carolina feels herself under no further obligation, by the votes of her representatives in Congress, or otherwise, to protect the home industry of the non-slaveholding States.

2. Resolved, further, That if our own industry needs protection, it can be better effected by State than by Congressional legislation.

3. Resolved, That the present tariff is high enough to afford sufficient revenue to carry on an economically administered government, and ought not to be increased.

4. Resolved, That the foregoing resolutions be transmitted to our members in both houses of Congress, with a request that they lay them before their respective houses, and with the further request that they vote against any change in the present tariff laws which may have the effect to protect or encourage the manufacturing or mining interests of the free States, or which may have the effect to increase the cost to the southern consumer of any of the products of foreign countries.

Read three times and ratified in General Assembly, this 22d day of January, 1851.

DEATH OF GENERAL TAYLOR.

LETTER

FROM

THE MAYOR OF CINCINNATI,

TRANSMITTING

The proceedings of citizens of that city in reference to the death of General Taylor.

MARCH 3, 1851.
Ordered to be printed.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, CINCINNATI,
July 31, 1850.

SIR: Accompanying document contains the proceedings of citizens of Cincinnati in regard to the death of the late President of the United States, Zachary Taylor, and which I forward, as directed, to your address.

I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

H. E. SPENCER,
Mayor.

To the SPEAKER of the House of Representative of the United States.

Tribute of respect to the memory of the late President.

At a meeting of the citizens of Cincinnati, held at the Merchants' Exchange on Tuesday evening, July 16, 1850, to hear the report of the committee heretofore appointed to make arrangements for suitable public ceremonies expressive of the grief of the people for the death of the late President of the United States, and their respect for his memory, Henry E. Spencer, mayor of the city, was called to the chair, and Samuel Cloon, junior, and C. S. Pomeroy, appointed secretaries.

Judge Coffin, from the committee, made a report setting forth the views of the committee upon the subject; which report being considered, the meeting adopted the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That, in view of the critical condition of the health of the people of the city and the heat of the weather, any general procession is inexpedient.

2. Resolved, That Thursday, the first day of August, be set apart for the public ceremonies; that the mayor issue his proclamation requesting all persons to abstain from business on that day, and that all public institutions and the places of public resort be closed; that the flags of the city and of the shipping in port be hoisted at half-mast; that the bells of the churches and of the engine houses be tolled from 5 to 6 o'clock in the morning, and from 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening.

3. Resolved, That appropriate religious services be had in all the churches of the city on the morning of that day, under the direction of the pastor or priest of each congregation, at such hour of the day as they may severally deem best: this meeting, however, recommend 11 o'clock.

4. Resolved, That an oration be delivered at Wesley Chapel in the evening; the services at the chapel to commence at 8 o'clock precisely, and in the following order:

1. Appropriate instrumental music. 2. Prayer. 3. Singing of an original ode. 4. Oration. 5. Singing of an original hymn. 6. Benediction. 7. Instrumental music.

The chairman of the committee also announced that a series of resolutions had been prepared by Judge Hall of the committee; that the same had been approved by the committee, and would now be presented for the consideration of the meeting.

James Hall then presented the following preamble and resolutions:

The citizens of Cincinnati, having heard with profound sorrow of the great public calamity which has befallen the American people in the death of our venerable and distinguished Chief Magistrate, the great and greatly beloved Zachary Taylor; and having assembled to give a solemn though faint expression to the lively sensibility with which we, in common with the great mass of the American people, regard this afflicting dispensation of Divine Providence, do hereby resolve as follows:

1. That in the faithful and able discharge of the high office of President of the United States, General Taylor has fully vindicated the partiality of his country, which selected him for a trust so solemn and so comprehensive; has filled his elevated station with eminent usefulness and dignity; and has added the reputation of illustrious patriotism to that of unsurpassed military skill and unsullied private worth.

2. That, while it is our duty to bow in humble submission to the mysterious decree of Almighty God, which has removed from a sphere of exalted usefulness and honor a great and good man, an eminent citizen and an efficient Chief Magistrate, we cannot but deplore the irreparable bereavement which the country has suffered from his lamentable decease, especially in the peculiar posture of our public affairs, when the exercise of firmness, magnanimity, and public virtue in high places are imperatively demanded, and when the possession of these qualities by the illustrious deceased had rallied strongly around him the hopes and confidence of the nation.

3. That in the discharge of the duties of the Presidential office, General Taylor has ably and successfully followed out the example of the illustrious Washington in the admirable firmness, prudence, in the high sense of national honor, with which he has conducted the intercourse of the government with foreign nations, rendering to them strict justice and maintaining steadily the dignity of the American republic; while he has administered the domestic affairs of our country with a wise and just moderation, and with a sedulous regard to his own constitutional position and duty, and to the rights, the interests, and the expressed will of the people.

4. That the long and faithful services of Zachary Taylor, his brilliant military career, his benevolence on the battle-field, his moderation in victory, his unostentatious republican and Christian virtues, his excellent life and his exemplary death, entitle his name to the highest honors of his country, and should cause his memory to be cherished with honor and affection by a grateful people.

5. That we sympathize deeply and feelingly with the family of the illustrious and lamented deceased in their mournful bereavement, which has taken from them one endeared to them by the ties of nature and affection, by the justice, manliness, and truth, which sweetened to all around him the intercourse of domestic life; and that while we respectfully tender our condolence, we trust that the affliction is softened to them by the reflection that the course of his life in this world was so ordered as to win for him the approbation of the wise and good, and he died in the possession of the highest human honors, and that he has, as we have reason to believe, resigned an earthly sovereignty for a crown of glory in a more exalted state of existence.

6. That the mayor of the city be requested to transmit copies of these proceedings to the family of the deceased, the President of the United States, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives in Congress.

Which were unanimously adopted.

On motion,

Resolved, That the Committee of Thirty, heretofore appointed, be continued as a general committee, with power to appoint sub-committees from their own body or from the citizens generally, to carry into effect the foregoing arrangements.

Resolved, That the city papers be requested to publish these proceedings.

Adjourned.

H. E. SPENCER,
Chairman.

SAMUEL CLOON, Jr.,
C. S. POMEROY,
Secretaries.

PUBLIC PRINTING.

REPORT

OF THE

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES U. S.

AND

THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE,

OF

The lettings of the printing for the 32d Congress, under the joint resolution of the 3d August, 1846, and the contracts relating to the same.

MARCH 3, 1851.
Ordered to be printed.

The undersigned have the honor to report to the House of Representatives, that in pursuance of the joint resolution of the 3d August, 1846, advertisements were published for four weeks successively, in all the newspapers printed in the city of Washington, for proposals for executing the printing of the thirty-second Congress; that sealed proposals were received from various persons, (eleven in number,) which were duly opened as required by the said resolution; that, after a full examination and comparison of all the proposals, it was ascertained that A. Boyd Hamilton, of Philadelphia, was the lowest bidder for the printing of all the five classes, and that contracts and bonds, with security deemed sufficient, have been executed by the said A. Boyd Hamilton, for the execution of the printing for which his proposals were accepted.

Copies of the advertisement, of the proposals, comparative statements of the proposals, and of the contracts and bonds, are herewith submitted.

HOWELL COBB,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

RICHARD M. YOUNG,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

MARCH 3, 1851.

To the Honorables William R. King, President pro tempore of the Senate; Howell Cobb, Speaker of the House of Representatives; Asbury Dickins, Secretary of the Senate; and Richard M. Young, Clerk of the House of Representatives:

GENTLEMEN: In compliance with your order of the 8th instant to wit:

"Ordered, That W. Hickey, as secretary to this board on the part of the Senate, and Daniel Buck, as secretary on the part of the House of Representatives, respectively proceed to make calculations based upon the quantities of printing of each class executed under the present contract system for the two houses of Congress, in pursuance of orders passed at the first session of the thirtieth Congress; and that upon these data they respectively ascertain the cost of each description of work, and the aggregate cost of the whole printing of Congress for each class, according to the terms of each proposal, and make report thereof, separately, when completed, to this board at a future meeting:"

The undersigned beg leave to submit the following report, viz:

The proposals opened in the presence of the board, upon which these calculations were to be made, were from A. Baptiste, jr., William Flinn, John T. Towers, Robert Farnham, Jacob Gideon, Alanson Cook, John Bowen, John C. Rives, A. Boyd Hamilton, Joseph T. Crowell, and John S. Nafew.

The calculations having been separately made, and the results found to concur in each of the classes of printing, the tables showing these results are herewith submitted, to wit:

Table No. 1.—First class.
Table No. 2.—Second class.
Table No. 3.—Third class.
Table No. 4.—Fourth class.
Table No. 5.—Part A—Fifth class.
Table No. 6.—Part B " "
Table No. 7.—Part C " "
Table No. 8.—Recapitulation of the several parts of the fifth class.
Table No. 9.—Statement showing the amounts of the several proposals for each class of the printing of the 32d Congress, as calculated upon the quantities of printing of the two houses of Congress ordered at the first session of the thirtieth Congress, and showing, also, the aggregate amount of the proposals of the several individuals for the printing of all the classes upon that data, together with the average amount of the whole.

From these statements it will appear that A. Boyd Hamilton is the lowest bidder in all the classes for the printing of the thirty-second Congress.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. HICKEY,
Secretary of the Board on the part of the Senate.
DANIEL BUCK,
Secretary of the Board on the part of the Ho. of Reps.

A.

JOINT RESOLUTION directing the manner of procuring the printing for the two houses of Congress.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives be, and they are hereby, authorized and required, at the beginning of the final session of every Congress, to advertise for four weeks successively in all the newspapers published in the city of Washington, for sealed proposals for supplying the Senate and House of Representatives, respectively, of the next ensuing Congress, with the necessary printing for each; which advertisement shall describe the kind of printing and the quality of paper required, as near as may be, in the execution of the work; and said advertisement shall divide and classify the printing of the respective houses, as follows: One of bills and resolutions; one of reports of committees; one of journals; one of executive documents, and one for every other description of printing; each class to be a separate job, and to be provided for by separate contract. The said advertisement shall also contain a designation of the place in the said city of Washington where such sealed proposals shall be received, and the day and time of day at which said Secretary and Clerk will cease to receive any further proposals. And the Secretary and Clerk aforesaid shall provide suitable samples of the printing required, and of the paper on which the same is to be executed, to be kept at the place so designated as aforesaid at least twenty days successively before the time of receiving proposals shall expire, open to the inspection of all persons desiring to make proposals for the printing aforesaid, intelligence whereof shall be contained in said advertisement. Immediately on the expiration of the time for receiving said proposals, they shall be opened by the Secretary and Clerk aforesaid, in the presence of the Vice President, or President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and of such persons making proposals as may wish to be present. And the Secretary of the Senate, under the supervision of the Vice President, or President of the Senate, and the Clerk of the House of Representatives, under the supervisi n of the Speaker, shall thereupon let each class of said printing to the lowest bidder, who shall furnish satisfactory evidence of his practical skill, and his ability to do the work, and who shall offer good and sufficient security for the faithful execution of the jobs and contracts undertaken by him. And thereupon the Vice President, or President of the Senate, and its Secretary, and the Speaker of the House, and its Clerk, shall proceed to take bonds, with good and sufficient security for the due and faithful performance of the work; and the officers aforesaid shall immediately thereafter report to their respective houses all such lettings of printing, and the contracts relating to the same: Provided, That the said proposals shall remain sealed until the time appointed for examining the same.

The committee shall audit and pass upon all accounts for printing; but no bill shall be acted upon for work that is not actually executed and delivered, and which they may require to be properly authenticated.

SEC. 3. And be it further resolved, That all motions to print extra numbers of any bill, paper, or document, in either house, shall be referred to the members of the committee of that house, who shall report upon the propriety of printing, and the probable expense thereof, as early as convenient. And all expenses for printing shall be paid from the contingent fund of the two houses in proportion to the number of copies ordered by each, except the expense of composition, which shall be paid by the house which shall have first ordered the printing of the paper or document; and if there shall be a second composition, it shall be paid for by the house which shall authorize and direct the same; and when extra copies of any document or paper shall be ordered by both houses, they shall be delivered to the two houses simultaneously, in proportion to the number of copies by them respectively ordered.

PRINTING OF CONGRESS.

In compliance with the "Joint resolution directing the manner of procuring the printing for the two houses of Congress," Approved August 8, 1846, sealed proposals will be received by the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives for supplying the Senate and House of Representatives, respectively, with the necessary printing for each for the thirty second Congress. The proposals will be received at the office of the Secretary of the Senate, in the Capitol, at Washington, until 10 o'clock in the forenoon of Saturday, the 8th day of February, 1851, and no longer. Blank tabular forms of proposals, with suitable samples of the paper on which the printing is to be executed, and of the printing, will be kept at the said office until that time, and furnished, on application, to all persons desiring to make proposals, and no proposal will be received which is not according to those forms. Each class of printing, including the printing for the Senate and the printing for the House of Representatives, will form a separate job, and is to be provided for by a separate contract.

The first class will consist of bills and joint resolutions, to be printed with English type, and with an English white line between each printed line; the page to be of folio size, 52 ems long and 28 ems wide, and printed on cap writing paper of fine quality, each sheet to measure not less than 13 by 16 inches, and the single ream to weigh not less than fourteen pounds. The proposals must state the price per page, containing 1,456 ems, for composition, and the price per page for press-work, paper, folding, and stitching, for 580 copies, and at the same rate for any greater number not exceeding 1,000 copies.

The second class will consist of reports of committees, with such documents and papers as may accompany them, with an index to the whole; to be printed on double royal paper of fine quality, each sheet to measure not less than 24 by 38 inches, and each ream to weigh not less than fifty pounds, with a neat small pica type, and not leaded, in octavo pages of the same size as required by the joint resolution of the 3d of March, 1849, and to be 55 ems long and 31 ems wide. Where the matter suitable for a page cannot be brought into the octavo form with small pica type, neat brevier type will be used, the page to be 70 ems long by 41 ems wide. The proposals must state the price per page of 1,705 ems for composition for small pica plain and for small pica rule, the price per page of 2,870 ems of bevier plain and of bevier rule, and the price per page for press-work, paper, folding and stitching of the octavo form for 1,250 copies, and at the same rate for any greater number not exceeding 1,500 copies. Where the construction of tables belonging to this class requires them to be printed in a form larger than octavo, but to be folded in octavo, the proposals will state the price per 1,000 ems for composition in brevier rule work, and the price for the press work, paper, folding and stitching of each table for 1,250 copies, and at the same rate for any greater number not exceeding 1,500 copies. As a number of copies of each document are to be reserved for binding, and delivered to the binder in sheets, each proposal will state the price or rate to be deducted per page, per 100 copies, for the folding and stitching of the octavo printing, and the price or rate per 100 copies to be deducted for the folding and stitching of each printed table larger than octavo. The proposals will also state the additional price for 100 copies, when delivered stitched, for the folding and stitching of each map, chart, diagram, or plate, of any size or shape, that may accompany any printed report or document of this class. For the copies which are to be bound this charge is not to be made.

The third class will consist of the journals of each house, with the appendix, tables, and index thereto; to be printed in the same manner, form, and type, and upon the same paper, as the octavo printing of the second class; and the proposals will state the same particulars as are required for the second class, except that the price for press work, paper, folding, and stitching of the journals will be stated for 1,250 copies, and at the same rate for any greater number not exceeding 1,550 copies.

The fourth class will consist of the executive documents of each house, embracing messages from the President, reports from the several executive departments, offices, and bureaus, and the documents and statements communicated therewith, with an index to the whole, to be printed in the same manner, form, type, and size, and upon the same paper, as the second class; and the proposals must state the same particulars as are required for the second class.

The fifth class will consist of every other description of printing not included in the preceding classes, and will be divided as follows:

Part A.—Resolutions and other documents from State legislatures, memorials, petitions, and all other papers or documents not included in parts B and C of this class. This part of the fifth class to be printed in the same manner, form, type, and size, and upon the same paper, as the second class; and the proposals must state the same particulars as are required for the second class.

Part B.—Treaties, messages, reports, and other papers and documents ordered to be printed in confidence for the use of the Senate, to be printed in the same manner, form, type and size, and upon the same paper, as the second class; and the proposals must state the same particulars as are required for the second class, except that the price for press work, paper, folding, and stitching of this part will be stated for 65 copies, and at the same rate for any greater number not exceeding 100 copies. This part B is for the Senate alone.

Part C.—Tabular statements of the orders of the day, lists of yeas and nays, circular letters, and all other printing of a miscellaneous character, not included in either of the other classes, or in parts A and B of this class; and the proposals will state the price per 1,000 ems for composition, in whatever type, size, or form that may be required, for plain work, and the price for rule and figure work, and also the price per page for press-work, paper, folding and stitching, per one hundred copies of each of the following sizes, viz: royal octavo, or any size smaller, quarto post, folio cap, or any size larger than folio cap.

The proposals will state the per centage deduction on the prices for press-work, paper, folding, and stitching, (as stated under the second class,) for furnishing additional copies of matter included in either of the aforesaid classes—this is to say: the per centage deduction of any number exceeding 1,500, and not exceeding 5,000; for any number exceeding 5,000, and not exceeding 10,000; for any number exceeding 10,000, and not exceeding 20,000; and for any number exceeding 20,000 copies. The deduction in every case to have reference to, and to be calculated upon, the whole number of any document ordered.

All the type specified above must be of the regular size of its kind, and must not be placed upon any but a regular body, belonging to such size and kind of type. The ink used to be of a fine quality book ink, and the printing to be executed in the best manner.

When additional copies are ordered, they are to be printed on the same paper, with the same ink, and in the same style, as the usual number.

All printed documents intended to be bound must be delivered by the printer in sheets from time to time, as they may come from the press, to the binder, as may be directed by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives, respectively.

Each person is required to furnish, with the proposals, satisfactory evidence of his practical skill and his ability to do the work, and to offer at the same time good and sufficient security, to be so certified by a judge or clerk of the United States court of the district, or of the marshal of the district, in which the sureties may reside, for the faithful execution of the jobs and contracts proposed to be undertaken by him, and any proposal unaccompanied with such evidence will be rejected.

The proposals will be opened in the manner required by law, on Saturday, the 8th day of February, 1851, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the Vice President's chamber, in the Capitol.

ASBURY DICKINS,

JAMES C. VANDYKE,
WM. BADGER,
LEWIS PELOUZE.

PHILADELPHIA, February 6, 1851.

DEAR SIR: I have no difficulty in expressing an opinion, that Mr. Peacock and Mr. Graham, whose names are signed to the certificate attached to your proposals, are well qualified to judge of a printer's ability; and that Mr. Vandyke, Mr. Badger, and Mr. Pelouze have the character of substantial men in our community. But I cannot make this the subject of an official certificate, nor can I say that any or all of them are in my belief good and sufficient as sureties,* for an amount which is not set forth.

I shall be very sorry if my declining to make the required certificate shall in anywise prejudice your application, for I have no doubt the government would be well served under any contract you might enter into for public printing.

Very respectfully, yours,

J. K. KANE.

Mr. A. BOYD HAMILTON.

Second Class.

Know all men by these presents, that we, A. Boyd Hamilton, William Badger, Lewis Pelouze, James E. Van Dyke, Alexander Hamilton, Michael Thompson, and John A. Blake, are jointly and severally held and firmly bound unto the United States of America in the sum of three thousand dollars lawful money of the United States, to the payment whereof, well and truly to be made to the United States, we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, and administrators, jointly and severally, firmly by these presents.

Given under our hands, and sealed with our seals, and dated this third day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one.

Whereas the above named A. Boyd Hamilton being the lowest bidder under the proposals made in pursuance of the "joint resolution directing the manner of procuring the printing for the two houses of Congress," approved third of August, 1846, for the printing of the thirty-second Congress embraced in the second class, and consisting of the reports of committees, with such documents and papers as may accompany them, with an index to the whole, he, the said A. Boyd Hamilton, doth hereby contract and agree to execute the printing and work and furnish the materials required for the said second class, for the House of Representatives of the United States, for the thirty-second Congress, to be done in the city of Washington, in a neat and proper manner, equal to the specimen hereto annexed, with good small pica type, using the brevier only in notes and where want of space for the convenient use of small pica type may render it necessary, and using the rule brevier where the matter cannot conveniently be brought within the octavo page in rule pica, avoiding the use of broadsides, or forms larger than the octavo pages, where the matter can be brought within that size by the use of brevier type without destroying the proper connexion of the tabular arrangement; and where the larger forms or tables are necessary, brevier type shall be used; the work to be done with all practicable despatch—that is to say, reports and documents making not more than eight pages shall be delivered at the office of the Clerk of the House of Representatives, and at the hall of the House, before the meeting of the House the day ensuing the order to print, and where they make more than eight pages they shall be delivered as may be required by the Clerk of the House of Representatives, and to be printed on double royal paper of fine quality, the same as the sample sheet attached to this contract, each sheet to measure not less than twenty-four by thirty-eight inches, and each ream to weigh not less than fifty pounds, with neat type as above described, and not leaded, in octavo pages of the same size as required by the joint resolution of the third of March, 1819, and to be fifty-five ems long and thirty-one ems wide, and to contain seventeen hundred and five ems of small pica. Where the matter suitable for a page cannot be brought into the octavo form with small pica type, neat brevier will be used, the page to be seventy ems long by forty-one ems wide, and to contain two thousand eight hundred and seventy ems. At the following prices, that is to say: For the reports of committees of the House for the thirty-second Congress, with documents, indexes, &c., for the composition per page of small pica plain, twenty-eight and $\frac{5}{16}$ cents; of small pica rule, one hundred and fifty cents; for the composition per page of brevier plain, one hundred and fifty cents, and of brevier rule one hundred and fifty cents; for the composition of tables larger than octavo, for 1,000 ems, seventy cents. For the press-work, paper, folding and stitching of the octavo size, per page for 1,250 copies, forty-two cents, and at the same rate for any greater number not exceeding 1,500 copies. A grant of land to aid in construction of a railroad from the Atlantic to the Gulf.

MARCH 3, 1851.
Ordered to be printed.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTION asking an appropriation of land by Congress to aid in the construction of the Atlantic and Gulf Central railroad.

Whereas the construction of a railway from the Atlantic across to the Gulf coast of Florida, connecting harbors of sufficient depth to admit vessels of war, must be an object of importance no less to the government of the United States than to the people of this State who are desirous of embarking in this great enterprise:

Be it therefore resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Florida in General Assembly convened, That his Excellency, the governor of this State, be authorized, on behalf of the same, to memorialize the Congress of the United States for such grant of public land, in aid of the construction of "the Atlantic and Gulf Central railroad," as the great importance of said work may, in the wisdom of Congress, appear to justify.

Be it further resolved, That the delegation from this State in Congress be earnestly invited to co-operate in securing such grant.

Tallahassee, Florida, February 6, 1851.

In compliance with the duty imposed upon me by the foregoing preamble and resolutions, adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Florida, in General Assembly convened, I, Thomas Brown, governor of the said State, do hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States to grant to the Florida "Atlantic and Gulf Central railroad," and to its branches and lateral roads, six sections of the public lands on either side of the said railroad, and its branches and lateral roads: and where the public lands have been disposed of within the distance of six miles of the said road, and its branches and lateral roads, then to grant to the said road an equal quantity to make up the deficiency from any of the unsold or undisposed of public lands within the said State, or to grant such donations of the public lands for the construction of railroads within the State of Florida as have been, or may be granted to the State of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, for similar purposes.

RESOLUTIONS

OF THE

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF FLORIDA,

RELATIVE TO

The sixteenth sections.

MARCH 3, 1851.
Ordered to be printed.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS relative to the 16th sections.

Whereas a government like the happy one under which we live—a government based upon the wisdom and affection of the governed—must, under the blessings of a merciful Providence, depend for its permanence and stability upon the virtue and general intelligence of the people:

And whereas our forefathers, who periled their lives and fortunes and shed their blood to secure the liberties we now enjoy, with that wise forecast which so eminently characterized all the acts of the founders of this great republic, made a most munificent provision for the education of the rising generations, by the appropriation of every sixteenth section of the public land for the support of common schools, (not of poor schools, but of common schools,) where all the children of the country, rich and poor, high and low, should meet upon a common level, and be taught the first rudiments of a good practical education:

And whereas many of these sixteenth sections in Florida are entirely worthless, owing to their being covered with water, or composed of poor pine-barren wholly unfit for cultivation, whereby the munificent and praiseworthy object of the donors, without some further action of Congress, will be (so far as regards these valueless sections) entirely defeated, and our citizens deprived of the intended benefit:

And whereas, by a late decision of the Commissioner of the General Land Office, it is held that there are no sixteenth sections for those portions of our State which are included in what are familiarly called the Arredondo or Alachua grant and Forbes's purchase, whereby the people of Florida, and especially those residing on these grants respectively, are deprived of nearly 40,000 acres of land which have been appropriated to this most meritorious and praiseworthy purpose: Therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Florida in General Assembly convened, That the Congress of the United States be requested, and they are hereby strongly and earnestly solicited, to make immediate provision by law, whereby all such worthless sixteenth sections in the State may be relinquished, and other lands better suited to the munificent and praiseworthy objects of the donors may be selected in their place and stead; and also that they, at the same time, make provision for the location of lands for the same purpose, in proportion to a sixteenth section for every 23,040 acres of the said Arredondo or Alachua grant and Forbes's purchase, and of any and all other grants in this State similarly situated, and coming within the same decision of the Commissioner of the General Land Office.

Resolved, further, That a copy of this preamble and of these resolutions be forwarded to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United Statates, the Commissioner of the General Land Office, and to each of our senators and our representative in Congress, and that our senators and representative be requested to use their utmost endeavors to procure the passage of an act in accordance with these resolutions.

RESOLUTIONS

OF THE

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF FLORIDA,

IN FAVOR OF

A graduation of the price of the public lands.

MARCH 3, 1851.
Ordered to be printed.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS requesting our members in Congress to procure the passage of an act to graduate the price of public lands in this State.

Whereas there is in this State a vast quantity of public or government lands of an inferior quality, which has been in market or subject to entry for many years, and has not been deemed by our citizens to be worth government price (one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre;) and whereas it is believed by this General Assembly that the sale of all such lands should be effected as soon as practicable, for the purpose of increasing the population of this State, and for the purpose of bringing more revenue into our treasury; and whereas the said lands, or a large portion of them, never can be sold by the general government at the present price as fixed by law, but might be readily disposed of at a reduced price, thereby bringing into our State an increase of population, and into our treasury a large additional revenue: Therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Florida in General Assembly convened, That our senators and representative in Congress be, and they are hereby, requested to use their best endeavors to procure the passage of an act to graduate the price of all the public or United States lands in this State, from one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, agreeably to the quality and the length of time said lands have been in market or subject to entry.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolution, after being duly authenticated, be forwarded, one copy to each of our senators, and one to our representative in Congress, to be by them laid before Congress.

RESOLUTION

OF THE

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF FLORIDA,

IN REFERENCE TO

Losses sustained by citizens of Florida in the Seminole war.

MARCH 3, 1851.
Ordered to be printed.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTION urging upon Congress the payment for losses sustained by the citizens of Florida at the late hostilities of the Seminole Indians, and asking the appointment of a commissioner to take the testimony relative thereto.

Whereas, during the months of July and August, A. D. eighteen hundred and forty-nine, without cause, the Seminole Indians destroyed the property of many of the citizens of this State; and whereas it is confidently hoped by those who have sustained such losses that the general government will allow them compensation for the damage thus sustained, as in equity and good conscience it ought to do; and whereas it is feared that, should measures for affording such relief be delayed, many of the sufferers will, from lapse of time, death, and removal of witnesses, &c., be unable to establish their losses: Therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Florida in General Assembly convened, That our senators and representative in Congress be requested to use their best exertions to procure the passage of an act by Congress, making an appropriation for the payment to citizens of Florida for such losses as they sustained from Indian depredations during the said months of July and August, A. D. eighteen hundred and forty-nine, and also to take such steps as may be necessary to procure the appointment of a commissioner on the part of the United States to take the testimony relative to such losses, and file the same in the proper department at Washington.

FLORIDA VOLUNTEERS.

RESOLUTIONS

OF THE

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF FLORIDA,

RELATIVE

To the payment of certain companies of volunteers.

MARCH 3, 1851.
Ordered to be printed.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS relative to the payment of certain companies of Florida volunteers.

Whereas, immediately after Indian hostilities in the year 1849, volunteer companies were raised by Captains S. L. Sparkman, J. Parker, R. D. Bradley, E. E. Mizzell, and A. Jonnigan, upon the frontier settlements of this State, for the protection of the citizens against the Seminole Indians; and whereas said companies furnished their own supplies, and devoted their whole time to said service, thereby rendering good and efficient service in protecting the lives and property of the frontier citizens of this State against the rapine of that miscreant and savage tribe of Indians now remaining within our borders; and whereas it is believed by the General Assembly that, according to the treaty of Payne's Landing, the general government is bound to protect the citizens of this State against said Indians, and to pay all just sums incurred in and about the same: Therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Florida, in General Assembly Convened, That our senators and representative in Congress be, and they are hereby, requested to use their influence to have said companies placed upon the same footing that the volunteers are placed that were ordered out by the governor.

Be it further resolved, That our senators and representative in Congress be requested to procure an appropriation for the payment of the expenses incurred by the volunteers ordered out by the governor of this State in the year 1849, and also a sufficient appropriation for the payment of the aforesaid volunteers.

Be it further resolved, That the governor be requested to forward a copy of these resolutions to our senators and representative in Congress.

[Passed the House of Representatives January 20, 1851. Passed the Senate January 20, 1851. Approved by the governor January 23, 1851.]

LEVI F. MOCHER.

RESOLUTION

OF THE

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF FLORIDA,

RELATIVE TO

The claim of Levi F. Mocher, deceased.

MARCH 3, 1851.
Ordered to be printed.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTION of the General Assembly of Florida, relative to the claim of Levi F. Mocher, deceased.

Whereas Levi F. Mocher, now deceased, was in his lifetime duly appointed, by the governor of the Territory of Florida, assistant quartermaster for the militia and troops in the service of the said Territory during the late Seminole war, which service was afterwards assumed and recognised by the United States; and

Whereas said Mocher duly and faithfully served in such capacity for the term of five months, to wit: from the 20th of July, 1839, to the 20th of December, 1839, and is justly entitled, for his services, to the same pay and allowance as officers of the same rank in the army of the United States; and whereas it is considered that the claim is a just one against the United States: now, therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Florida, in general assembly convened, That our senators and representative in Congress be, and they are hereby, desired to use their best exertions to procure the passage by Congress of a law for the payment to Dalcida Bull, administratrix of said Mocher, the claim, according to the principles of justice and equity.
